Describe Association's Work

Fish & Game Members Visit Arrowwood Lions

Spring activity for Vulcan and District Fish & Game Association began Monday, April 15, when 15 of the local members paid a visit to an Arrowwood Lions Club supper, where they described the workings of Fish & Game.

Guest speaker was Bruce Stewart of the Calgary F & G, who reviewed the Association's work provincially and told of the recent headaches found in trying to ship 45 head of elk from Banff to Spirit River, a project now under way. This attempt at greater distribution of such wild-life has been confronted with such hazards as road bans on hauling, Brucellosis shots for the animals, difficulties in catching and handling bull elk, many of which did not shed their antlers this year. Ninety head of elk were released 10 years ago in the Yukon and are doing very well, said the speaker.

In regards to the hunter safety program of F & G for children, Mr. Stewart said an instructor will be visiting local groups, outlining a program for them to pass on to the youngsters.

In warning his listeners about the dangers of feeding bears in National Parks, or anywhere, Mr. Stewart cited an example of a game warden who stopped to check a car whose occupants were feeding a bear which was standing against the windshield. When warned, the driver of the car quickly drove off partially rolling the bear which became enraged and attacked the warden. The warden was mauled before he reached the safety of his truck where he had to use his rifle and shoot the bear.

Referring to the campaign against crows and magpies Mr. Stewart said it would be possible for Arrowwood to get a trap from Fish & Game to aid in catching these pests.

Reports were given during the evening from committee heads Bill Holton, Dan McNiven, Don McCord, Merle Smith, Howie Marshall, Max Kehr, John Andrews, Jerry Steiner, Montie Findlay, Bill Lethby and President Glen Dahl.

On the subject of big game trophy heads and the Boone and Crockett Records book discussed by Jerry Steiner, it was revealed a Vulcan district hunter may have a cougar head worthy of third place in the book. Hubert Bexte who has worked on a farm in the district in recent years, bagged the cougar last fall and has had it measured. This hunter has crowded his achievements into three years. In his first year of hunting he took a deer and in his second he won a trophy for his deer head. Last year his cougar head spelled success again.

The local Fish & Game played host to the youngsters again last Friday night as Kids' Night was held. Lessons from last year's minor stampede of 150 boys and girls were learned and this second annual event went off smoothly with about 65 young guests in attendance and some adults.

Kinsmen's Club Charter Night Friday, May 3

At a business meeting of the newly formed Kinsmen's Club of Vulcan, planning for the coming Charter Night was originally intended as the major topic for discussion, but this was almost overshadowed by other proposed projects which have already come before the infant club.

Charter Night is set for Friday, May 3, and it is expected that in addition to the present membership of 34 and wives, a local guest list and visitors from other Kinsmen clubs in this zone will swell the attendance past the 150 mark.

The evening will run from a banquet to messages of welcome and introductions to be followed by a dance later in the evening.

The Kinsmen have already offered their service at the request of the Vulcan 50th Anniversary Committee to look after seating accommodation of old-timers and visitors during the July 1st parade.

The club was asked to help sponsor one of the Little League Baseball teams and another project which may come up for discussion in the distant future is a drive for a children's playground for Vulcan.

Correspondence was read regarding purchase of a "plank" on the proposed highway sign being promoted by the Vulcan District Board of Trade and further information will be sought in this regard.

Allan Holoboff In Ministry

Allan G. Holoboff, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Holoboff of Mossleigh, will graduate this April 19, from the Prairie Bible Institute, Three Hills, where he has been taking a four year theological course, specializing in Pastor Ministry.

After graduation Allan is planning to work permanently with the Canadian Sunday School Mission in Alberta. He will be stationed at Lindberg, Alta. under the supervision of Ernie Shulz before being assigned a mission point.

and "Queen's Plate" were enjoyed as were about 15 draws for prizes and a table full of refreshments at the close of the evening. This was a project of past-president Bill Holton and Howard Spaeth handled the microphone of the P.A. system loaned by square dance instructor Johnnie Maxwell.

Sign in employment office: "Don't underestimate yourself. Let us do it for you."

"Wagonmaster" Bill House, boss of the High River Fire Brigade and "Lightning" Leigh, one of the crew, came in peace to the Vulcan Fire Hall Wednesday, April 10, but were quickly forced into a corner by local firemen and are shown courageously defending themselves from a threatening nozzle of a hose line. That's fire chief Bob Johnston and Andy Broere on the hose and deputy chief George Richardson in the background. Thievery or some other low deed was suspected of the visitors at first but when they explained their mission, order was restored. It seems the High River crew is staging a fire demonstration day on June 22, and want the help of three neighboring towns. As something similar is planned here in connection with Vulcan's 50th Anniversary celebrations, it sounds as though an exchange of favors may result. Meanwhile, proceeds from the local Firemen's Ball successfully held last Friday night will go towards Vulcan hose laying contest on June 29.

The stub of wood shown above is not just another worn fence post but is the remains of an early survey stake, another reminder of an era past.

During his work with crews of the Farm Electric Service Ltd. and in his auction travels, Wally Franks has run into a few of these posts and came upon this one about 16 miles east of Travers on the Stone lease. This lease is apparently named after an early settler, Stone Roberts.

Burnt into the top of the post is part of a land location, 4E-11.

Such posts were the first used in the original Federal Government survey of this part of the country dating to 1880, and according to Commodore Allen who now has three such posts at the Little Bow Pioneer Museum, these were replaced by more permanent section markers in following surveys.

These posts were four feet long and stood at the corner of each quarter section and in that day of endless prairie and road-less country they were the only identification homesteaders had of their own land.

Annual Convention Held

Stuart Douglass FUA Sub-district 5 Head

The annual Sub-district 5 Convention was held in the evening of April 10, in the Berrywater Center with 66 persons registering. Following the singing of "O Canada" Director Stuart Douglass welcomed the guests and acted as chairman for the evening.

Interesting reports were given by the locals in the sub-district of their many and varied activities throughout the year. Directors reports were given by Stuart Douglass and Mrs. John Papp, FUA and FWUA directors for the sub-district.

Mrs. Fred Huddleston of Pincher Creek, FWUA director for District 12, brought greetings from the board. She spoke on FU and CDA, the camps to be held at Gold Eye Lake, Farm Women's Week and Farm Young People's Week.

Doug Galbraith, alternate director for District 12 spoke on the Farmer-Laborer Conference which he had attended at Banff and the Crop Insurance Plan. Norman Bell, representing the Wheat Pool, took charge of registration and gave a very interesting talk on "Public Relations."

Election of officers resulted in the following being elected for the coming year: FUA Sub-district 5 director, Stuart Douglass of Vulcan; 1st vice-president, Janus Norton, Arrowwood; 2nd vice-president, David Patton, Ensign; FWUA Sub-district 5 director, Mrs. John Papp, Milo; 1st vice-president, Mrs.

Bob Scott, Majorville. Mrs. Stibbing, vice-principal at Milo school showed some beautiful slides of her tour of the Middle East and gave a most interesting commentary.

The evening concluded with a delicious lunch served by the Berrywater FWUA ladies.

Welfare Situation Discussed At A.T.A. Meeting

At the recent meeting of the Vulcan Local of the A.T.A., members were well informed on the subject of welfare, not only on the local situation but on the provincial and federal basis. Some of the statistics revealed by Mr. McFarland, Director of the Provincial Welfare Department, and Mr. Spence, local welfare representative, were quite eye-opening, if not at times shocking. Magistrate W. A. Shields was also present and gave some very interesting opinions.

Other items on the agenda included discussions of certain resolutions which are to be submitted at the next general meeting; and upon the interest in a new life insurance plan for teachers.

Resolutions Passed

District 12 FWUA Holds Convention at High River

The District 12 FWUA conference was held in High River with about 100 ladies from the district locals attending.

Sessions started at 10:00 a.m. When Rev. Morse Johnson gave morning thoughts. The ladies were welcomed by Mrs. Smith of High River.

Committees were then chosen and the reports of locals were given. This was followed by the introduction of directors and sub-directors: Mrs. Huddleston, Pincher Creek; Mrs. Lange, Claresholm; Mrs. Papp, Milo; Mrs. Marr, Pincher Creek; Mrs. Brower, Pincher Creek; Mrs. Hogg, High River, and Mrs. House, secretary-treasurer of District 12.

In the afternoon, resolutions were presented, the first being that all freight cars be marked with scotchlite tape. If any changes take place in the structure of Farm Organization, the women asked in a resolution that the FWUA remain as it is set up for at least two years. A resolution asking for better binding on cook books was passed. The District 12 FWUA backed the establishment of a chronic hospital in High River.

Members of locals from High River, East Longview, Okotoks, Arrowwood, Milo, Nanton, Claresholm, Pincher Creek, Black Diamond, Red Deer Lake, Berrywater, Chinook and Utopia were in attendance.

Mrs. W. C. Taylor of Wainwright, gave an informative address dealing with insurance. She also spoke on topics of interest to women.

Champion Scouts Win Trophy At Waterton Camp

A patrol of six boys representing the Champion Scout Troop journeyed to Waterton Lakes during the Easter holidays where the Southern Alberta Region of the Boy Scouts Association held a four-day winter camping event.

Richard Siler, Paul Matlock, Terry Smith, Kerry Cummins, Richard Fedaj and Brian Lebsack were the members of this patrol and through co-operation and hard work were able to capture the most points a the base camp and thereby win the annual trophy. Brian came down with the flu early in the camp and was unable to stay.

Other Scout Troops participating at the Cameron Base Camp were Barons, Welling, Barnwell, Pincher Creek and four from Lethbridge. A total of 37 Scouts took part. The major difficulty encountered by the boys was that of erecting their shelters on top of four feet of snow to which mother nature very ably added another 8 or 10 inches after the boys were settled. The boys reported that the entire event was very educational and that they could not have spent their holidays in a better way.

Will Essential

Lawyer Bob Roddie of High River said a will was important to young married families, and that too often the planning of a will was left too late.

Mr. Roddie also covered estate taxes and the gift tax. He pointed out that a farmer needs to evaluate his land and equipment, because if he dies, much of this value could be taken in estate taxes. He said an estate which includes land and machinery, was exempt $40,000, that widow was exempt $20,000 and that children were exempt $10,000 each. If a farmer had a $96,000 estate, and a wife and three children, this would be a $90,000 exemption, and taxes would have to be paid on the remaining $6,000.

The gift act allows an outright gift of $4,000 a year, and a $10,000 gift once in a lifetime. This could work with the transfer of land out of the farmer's name, and thus the estate tax is avoided. "The gift act is there on the books, but not enough people make use of it, or even know it exists," Mr. Roddie said.

He cautioned the women to make sure someone with full knowledge of the law was contacted when a will was being made out and also urged that farmers and their wives sit down and figure out the value of their estate, and arrange for taking advantage of the gift act, if there is a possibility the estate could be heavily taxed.

There were 102 males to every 100 females in Canada at the time of the 1961 census; to every 100 females there were 112 males in rural areas and 98 males in urban areas.

ARTHUR ULRICH

Arthur Ulrich Named As Liberal Candidate

A well known Champion district farmer and member of the County of Vulcan council, Arthur W. Ulrich was the unanimous choice of a Liberal nominating convention in Vulcan last week as Liberal candidate to contest the Little Bow constituency in the provincial election expected to be held in June. This will be Mr. Ulrich's first venture into the provincial political field.

The nominating convention was attended by about 40 Liberal supporters from all parts of the constituency. C. J. Versluis of Champion was chairman of the meeting, which was addressed by Nick Taylor of Calgary, president of the Alberta Liberal Association. Reg Armstrong of Nanton and Mr. Ulrich also addressed the meeting.

Champion Resident Dies At Age 84

Miss Catherine Gibbons of Champion, a former resident of Calgary, died at Caranangay on Sunday, April 14, 1963, after a lengthy illness. She was 84 years of age.

Born in Leetonia, Ohio, she moved to Calgary in 1916 and resided there until moving to Champion in 1961. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Ella Sisson, Champion.

Requiem high mass was celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church, Champion, on Tuesday, April 16, and interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Calgary. The Vulcan Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Drama Players Win Awards

In its first attempt at competition the Vulcan Drama Group took part in the Lethbridge and District One-act Drama Festival held last Saturday night at Sterling and while its play did not take the top award, two members of the cast received awards.

The play "For Love Of A Horse," recently seen at Vulcan, was shown in competition with plays by Lethbridge Ward Stake LDS Players and the Lethbridge Our Town Workshop.

Margaret Shaw, as Gran Pearce, won the best supporting actress award and Louis Shaw won the best supporting actor award for his part as Charlie.

Adjudicator Irene McPhail of Medicine Hat gave the Our Town Workshop play "Chinook" top marks but told the audience she had "thoroughly enjoyed the evening of plays."

Of the Vulcan presentation Mrs. McPhail said: "The set design, props, lighting and costumes were absolutely perfect, but I feel the pace was perhaps a little too slow for the audience to get the maximum benefit of the story."

The cast of "For the Love Of A Horse," was Margaret Shaw, Sharon McLeod, Angelo Murphy, Jean Koziol, Marjorie Weber and Louis Shaw. Set designs were done by Merle Smith and Romona Pickersgill and the play's director was Jessie Sharpe.

The winning play, "Chinook," whose cast took the best actor and actress and best play awards will represent Southern Alberta at the One-act Drama Festival finals at Red Deer on May 10. Their play was written by Bill Matheson of C.J.L.H.-TV, and was seen on TV recently.

CHEC Radio To Cover 50th Anniversary

Radio coverage of Vulcan's 50th Anniversary celebration this year will be by Lethbridge station CHEC from the south and CFCH from Calgary. Final arrangements for this coverage were completed last week and the stations will be giving advance publicity for some time prior to opening day of the celebration June 29.

The amount of coverage the stations will be able to offer will be affected by the financial response given by local merchants in this regard but it is expected CHEC will be in Vulcan for at least the Saturday with their mobile unit and will follow up with remote broadcasts during the weekend.

The two radio stations are planning several contests, free draws and other side activities to add to the program and further announcements will be issued as these projects are completely organized.

Farmers On Land

Although the dry weather continues, with only a trace of moisture recorded last weekend, farmers are getting on the land this week and cultivating prior to seeding.

In the area east of Vulcan, seeding is expected to start this weekend or the first of next week.

'63 Licences Due

A warning comes from Vulcan Police that expiration of 1962 licence plates is the 30th of April. Anyone found driving with old plates after that date will face prosecution.

New licence plates went on sale March 1, and police are not prepared to give any leeway to anyone not holding 1963 plates after this two months grace.

The above is a picture of the street sweeper purchased recently by the town of Claresholm to clean the paved streets. Two large brushes, in a circulating motion move the rubbish and small stones onto a travelling belt which runs the material into the hopper. Water is sprayed ahead of the machine to hold down the dust. The machine appears to be doing a good job.

Crop Insurance Wanted

The support of the County of Vulcan Council has now been given to the movement to have the County established as a test area under the Crop Insurance Act. The Act, passed by the federal government in 1959, provides that Canada may enter into an agreement with any province which establishes a crop insurance scheme and under the terms of the agreement the federal government will pay 50 per cent of the administrative costs of the crop insurance scheme plus 20 per cent of the premiums paid in any year.

The necessary legislation to establish a crop insurance scheme in Alberta has not yet been passed by the Alberta government, mainly because there has been little demand for such legislation. It is anticipated that the requests now going in will result in the required legislation being passed by the provincial government to allow crop insurance areas to be set up for 1964.

The Act provides that at least 25 per cent of the farmers in any area covered by a crop insurance scheme must participate before the scheme can operate. The coverage provided under any agreement with a province shall not exceed the established value of 60 per cent of the long-time average yield. Farmers operating under the Crop Insurance Plan will be exempt from payment of the one per cent PFAA levy on grain sales and will not be eligible for PFAA benefits.

Short crops because of drouth the past few years make this area a logical choice if a test area for a Crop Insurance plan is to be set up in the province, for interest in such a scheme would not likely be great enough in a district that has enjoyed a succession of good crops. But dry land farming is a gamble, and if that gamble can be insured so that the farmer can make a living regardless of the weather it is good business.

We trust that the Alberta government will take action so that the Crop Insurance plan can be organized and operative in this area next year.

TREE HEALING TIME:

The splits which occur in many ornamental and fruit trees during the winter will not damage the trees seriously if they are properly treated in the spring when the buds are beginning to burst open and before harmful insects appear.

These splits, caused by the warm sun shining on the frozen trunks or too rapid freezing in the early winter, may extend anywhere from a few inches to the whole length of the tree. P. D. McCalla, Supervisor of Horticulture with the Alberta Department of Agriculture, recommends the following procedure for good healing results.

Cut the bark all round the damaged area to remove any insects which may be present and to ensure that the wound is clean. Then brush the exposed trunk thoroughly with a tree wound paint. Bordeaux powder combined with white lead and raw linseed oil and asphalt compounds are recommended for this purpose. If the wounds are treated properly the wound will be completely covered over with bark in three or four years.

When tree wounds are not treated, the bark never grows together again and the exposed area is susceptible to insect and disease damage. Mr. McCalla says winter injury to trees can usually be prevented by wrapping the trunks in several thicknesses of burlap sack in the late fall. Another good way of preventing winter injury is to provide shade on the south side of the trees during the cold weather. This will prevent the sun from heating the frozen bark.

At this time of year, many people are busy planning to remodel or build new homes. Because the kitchen is the centre of a great deal of the farm-house activity it should be carefully planned.

Types Of Kitchens —

The types of kitchen units most emphasized are the U, broken U and the L. Other types are the one-wall, the corridor and the island.

1. U-shaped— has one major appliance on each of three adjacent walls with continuous counter between. Usually, the sink is at the base of the U. This type of unit is considered the most step-saving provided only one person works in the kitchen. The work centers can be assembled in normal sequence, distances between appliances are relatively short, a large continuous window area is possible, and counter space is gained by turning two corners.

2. Broken-U— usually has some architectural part, such as a door or passageway, in one side that interrupts the continuous arrangement of work centers. The door or passageway may encourage cross traffic and thus hamper the person working in the kitchen.

3. L-shaped— has two major appliances on one wall and the third on an adjacent wall, all three connected by continuous counter. Probably the chief advantage of the L-shape is that it may make space in the room available for an eating area, child's play area, or other family activity. Also it is usually considered a more convenient arrangement than the U when more than one person works in the kitchen at a time.

4. Corridor or Two-wall— kitchen arrangement has two major appliances on one wall and the third on an opposite wall. It would ordinarily be planned when doors or other architectural features on opposite walls prevent a U or L arrangement.

5. One-wall— has all three major appliances on one wall. If this type meets recommended counter and cabinet spaces, it is long and therefore likely to involve excessive walking.

6. Island Plan— A complete island plan would have each work center isolated. Some kitchens in older houses are like this because of openings in all four walls. Also, some of the very newest kitchens shown by equipment manufacturers are planned to have at least one island (for example, the range center). The island in these new kitchens is not necessarily against a wall but may stand free in the room. To be most satisfactory, each isolated center must be planned with adequate counter and storage space near the major appliance.

BRANT

U.C.W. PRESENTS PLAY

Members of the Brant United Church Women, Mrs. Una Burley, Mrs. Sophia Jorstad, Mrs. Jean Olsen and Mrs. Dolores Payce put on the play "Bow to the Wind" at the April meeting of the Cayley U.C.W. Mrs. Inez Prater was commentator.

The April meeting of the Brant U.C.W. was held in the Church hall with 15 members and three visitors present. Mrs. Phyllis McDonald chaired the meeting.

The Lenten Devotional was lead by Mrs. W. Chandler. She appealed that Lenten sacrifices be used for the good of others. Two Shipments of Christmas cards were reported sent to the Mission field. Following the business, a very enjoyable auction was held. Each member in turn acted as auctioneer. The roll call was answered by a donation for the sale.

A lovely lunch was then served by Mrs. Jean Olsen, Mrs. Gwen Christofferson, and Mrs. Eva McKay.

The average consumption of ice cream in Canada last year was 19 pints for every man, woman and child. In Alberta the average was 23½ pints per person.

First Choral Festival Of County Schools Held

Students from all of the County schools, Lomond, Milo, Brant, Champion, Carmangay, Mossleigh, Arrowwood and Vulcan took part in the School Choral Festival, successfully held at Vulcan Thursday, April 11.

Both the Vulcan Elementary and High School auditoriums were put to use during the morning and afternoon of choral singing which saw an influx of 50 classes to the schools.

Students from Grade 1 to High School were divided by grades into 11 classes and two selections were sung by the four or five grades which made up most classes.

This festival was not competitive by nature but each class was adjudicated and graded from A to E.

Peter Hodgson of Mount Royal College in Calgary and Dr. Stanley Finley who is on the Faculty of Education, University of Alberta, Calgary, were adjudicators.

In some cases classes brought their own accompanist, while for others Margaret Ann Jamison and Jean Ann Hartung acted in this capacity.

The event, organized by Mrs. Carolyn Johnson, Music Consultant for County Schools, was the first of this type to be held here in recent years and was enjoyed by good crowds at both morning and afternoon sessions. Excellent discipline was maintained throughout with a minimum of disturbance as classes moved into and out of the auditorium and complete silence and attention was given each group as they performed.

The program marked a culmination of this aspect of music instruction in the schools for this term and not only was it a challenge for the youngsters involved but a demonstration of ability of the teachers who give compulsory class instruction up to grade six, and who directed their students. The job of Mrs. Johnson is supervision and guidance of teachers in music.

Fitzgerald Lauds ARDA Program

REGINA.—The Director of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, M. J. Fitzgerald, recently related the aims of the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act to the current PFRA program. In speaking to a joint conference of PFRA community pasture and water development personnel, he said that in many respects the more technical side of ARDA is an extension to the rest of Canada of the PFRA program. He added that the important exception is that ARDA offers a wider range of projects dealing with soil and water conservation, and introduces a broader concept in rural development than has been possible under the PFRA program.

Mr. Fitzgerald said that under the new Act, provisions have been made for social and physical changes to provide greater income and employment opportunities for rural people. To realize the aims of the Act, Mr. Fitzgerald said the Federal Government will provide financial assistance to the provinces for the execution of alternative land use projects, soil and water conservation projects, and for the development of designated rural areas. Canada will also make funds available for research involving the three types of operations.

Recognizing the reduction in the farm labour force in recent years, Mr. Fitzgerald saw this trend continuing and providing a national menace to urban life. He pointed out that the migration of farm labour was adding untrained and unskilled people to the urban labour force, and suggested we should be concerned with this trend. The speaker offered two solutions to the problem. One was the encouragement of industry to establish in rural areas through the provision of adequate water supplies, the diversification of farm produce, and the development of recreation facilities. The other was the training and education of those moving from rural to urban areas so that they would not be a drag on, but an asset to the urban labour force.

Chairman Lion Bob Monner. The district governor, Karl Nutter, then gave his address, which was followed by "The Queen."

A dance was then held to the music of Alex Fraser. At midnight a snack table was brought out which was centered by the 40 miniature Milo-Queenstown Lions, along with two cakes in the shape of Lions.

Those responsible for such a lovely and delicious snack bar were Lois and Lucille Deitz, Betty and Byrla Armstrong, Margaret Umschied and Marilyn Nelson.

Visiting clubs were from Lomond, Arrowwood, Mossleigh, Chamion, Carmangay and Vulcan.
